AI moves forward.
So do your teams.

Nova is the software that shows each person what AI can do in their job, guides them to the result, and keeps them up to date.

Today, in Nova: what you can do now.

What it is

Subscription software that shows what AI can do in each job, guides people to the result, and keeps everyone up to date.

Who it's for

People who are not specialists: employees, freelancers, owners of small businesses. On your own, or as a team of up to 50.

What sets it apart

Tool pages built from vendors' official pages, each with a check date. No affiliation, no commission. And guidance down to the click.

Where to use Nova

In the browser: the site and the product, in English and in French.

The Nova extension: the guide inside your assistants: where to click and what to write, in ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini.

Nova for Mac and Windows: in beta, it watches how you work and tells you what to automate.

Nova on your phone: with its icon on your home screen, nothing to download.
